PETER BIYER'S TWO WIVES. o Jumps Into the River, but is Fished

Peter Beyer, a mlesman, living at 159 Alles street, went to Jersey City early yesterday orning with the htention to go to Germany or commit suicide. He went to the Red Star teamthip line pier, and wandered around for a while Suddenly he ran up to Special Officer aCoye, who has charge of the pler, and said: Takecharge of me, officer. I've just taken Coyne vas about to take him by the arm when he dirted off down the pier to the water and leapedoverboard. Coyne stuck a boat hook in Beyer's coat collar, and pulled him out. Then he too him to Police Headquarters.

A doctor found that he had not taken poison. sever told the Inspector that a long time ago be was marrid to Ernestine Van der Daile in chweisler. Grmany. They had two children hree months after the second one was born fell in love with Miss Marie Sittard who orked in his bother's factory. One night he ent away he tid the girl to go and tell his went away he tidd the girl to go and tell his went away he tidd the girl to go and tell his wife what he had lone. She did so, and a week afterward he andhis wife separated. She ordered him out of he house. He went to live with the girl whon he had wronged. Some lime after that his wife told him if he would eave Germany shewould pay all his expenses. He came to this country with Miss Sittard and want to live in Aller atreet.

A week ago he bok the woman to Jersey City. He spoke the of his wife in Germany. He left her at the house of a friend yesterday, and told her he was coming to this city to got her some things which she needed. He went to the Allen street house, packed his clothing in a bundls, and then returned to Jersey City and tried to stow himself away on the steamanty friends he was discovered and put off the ship. He wanted to go back to his wife in Germany, he sail, and if he couldn't go to her he wanted to die. The Sittard woman was sent for, and therewas a scene when she heard what Beyor had dom. Before she left him she was taken violentiyil, and had to be carried to her friend's house. She is in a critical condition. Beyer was locked up.

CRUMPTON, Md. Jan. 5 .- The village gosips are discussingthe marriage of Miss Matte Glanding, the principal of the school, and Dr. C. T. Cahoon, the village physician and megist. When the ministerial blessing had n given and the benediction pronounced, he happy pair stapped into the finest team the own could affordand drove to Balph's wharf, town could afford and drove to Balph's wharf, twelve miles away to take the steamer Emma A. Ford for a wedding trip to Baltimore and Washington. When the steamer was reached, however, the bridgeroom concluded that he could not desert als practice and his drug store, evel for the neasure of a bridge tour, so placing his bride on the steamer, with many emphatic nunctions to the officers to look after her comfort, he slowly and sorrowfully wended his way home, while the lonely bride came on it Baltimore, Mrs. Cahoon visited friends in Betimore and Washington, and enjoyed her leady wedding tour as best she could. After three days' absence she returned, and this morning was met by her husband at the wharf. The little house was ready for her, and the lappy pair have gone to house-keeping.
